Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Link, Vol. 6: October, 1948 Madeline I. Murray (Rough Duty, page 3) spent almost three years in the Waves. She was discharged as a Storekeeper, 1st Class, and still belongs to the Reserve Unit in Boston. Back in civilian life The Mad Murray, as she dubs herself, works for the John Hancock Insurance Company and attends the Boston University school of public relations three nights a week. In her spare time she performs with the Clarendon Players and The Troopers, the latter of which is a group of old faithful entertainers who still go around to the hospitals and entertain the veterans. She s really letting you in on a secret, you hospital veterans, for she always hopes no one will recognize me - because I am very, very far from a glamorous gal on these trips - my partner and I dress up as comedy scrub-women and 1880 bathing beauties. But the patients laugh - and that is better than a view of the ceiling or four walls. We re sure they appreciate your efforts, Madeline - both written and performed! Ed Galing, who writes of The Navy in the Air, page 9, served in the Army during the war. He knows about the Navy, though, because after a period as a civilian upon his return home, he signed up with the Naval Reserve as a stationkeeper, working at NAS Willow Grove, Pennsylvania. As for writing, he declares, I have always been doing this, and his service with the 3rd Army Headquarters enabled him to gather material in such places as Munich, Heidelberg, France, Belgium, Switzerland, and Italy. You may have seen his...
